Pacific Alliance Technologies Becomes a Microsoft Gold Certified Partner

Vancouver, BC – May 2, 2008 – Pacific Alliance Technologies, a leading engineering, architectural and GIS technology product and service provider, today announced that it has become a member of the Microsoft Gold Certified Partner Program. The program recognizes the innovative solutions and value that the partner brings to its customers.

Pacific Alliance Technologies' focus is on delivering technology-enabled business solutions for the municipal, engineering and architectural communities using the latest system delivery methods. "We are extremely pleased to be a part of the Microsoft Gold Certified Partner Program. Our membership allows us to clearly promote our expertise and relationship with Microsoft to our customers," says Chris Webber, President, Pacific Alliance Technologies. "The benefits provided through the program will only add more value to our product and service offerings. By applying the expertise of our Microsoft Certified professionals to the development and implementation of our geospatial and asset management solutions, our customers will be the ones who reap the benefits."

Accompanied by valuable training and business development resources, the Microsoft Gold Certified Partner Program provides its technology partners with the tools and resources required to maintain a competitive edge in the marketplace. "As a member of the Microsoft Gold Certified Partner Program we can deliver a higher level of service that our clients are demanding," said Ronnie Wahj, Vice President, Pacific Alliance Technologies.
